

Urgent Plea for Foster Homes

Due to personal health matters, the owner of the three cats below needs to place them in temporary foster homes for at least 3 months and up to March 2012 at the very latest. If interested, email rusticScribe@gmail.com, or call 647 458-4994 and leave a message.

Audrey McDooney is about 9 years old. She was adopted as a kitten as a company for an elderly cat. Another cat came along a couple of years later and befriended Audrey, and she became good company for the second cat also.

Audrey has tummy troubles, so she has never learned patience and she often has a bad-tempered look on her face. She does not demonstrate any particular interest in people, so it will surprise you to learn she is the most affectionate cat I've ever known. Audrey is a closet kisser. When she is feeling well, she will climb into my lap, throw her arms around my neck, and kiss me repeatedly.

Her favourite thing to do is go outside on her leash and lie in the sun in the heat of the day, and then curl up under a vegetable plant and fall asleep. She usually sleeps beside me at night, and if there are other cats around, she will occasionally give them a good bath, hoping for similar treatment herself.

Please consider taking this interesting old gal into your home. She comes with some food, a litter box and her own bowl.

The Right Reverend Father Joseph (or, the Padre) is a charming, hard-working fellow. This 2-year old male loves nothing better than to discuss the day's events with you, and hums to himself as he goes about his business. Having an excellent appetite, he is not fussy about anything you offer him, and then he ensures that nothing on any other plate goes to waste. Joseph is extremely friendly and craves physical contact with all creatures.

While still a bit shy and uncertain, he overcomes his fears and works hard to be involved in community events, especially sports and games. He is still learning how to be gentle during interactive play and to understand the rules, but his actions are scrupulously kind-hearted. Recently, he has learned just how thrilling it is to be petted, so he comes for it regularly.

Our household is currently downsizing, and he has graciously offered to find another flock to shepherd. Please consider taking this handsome, charming and delightfully affectionate creature into your home. He comes with toys, a litter box and his own bowl.

Dr. Virgil McGough was rescued from a veterinary clinic. Someone had dropped him off for treatment and 4 months later had not returned for him. I think he is about 6 years old. He greets everyone at the door with equal vigour, and after only a few moments of adjustment, he typically does his "flop tart" thing, hurling himself on the floor to get his belly rubbed.

Virgil is not only my doorman, he is also the house peacemaker. If someone is in pain or unhappy, Virgil intercedes. If he thinks I am mistreating anyone, he eyes me suspiciously. If there are insects or people or articles of furniture causing mischief, you can be sure the good doctor will be there trying to sort it out. He has the kindest heart you can imagine. My other cats all go to him for baths and as a nap mate, and he almost always acquiesces.

Virgil was likely left at the clinic because his stomach is sensitive. I have kept him on ZD cat food, the most non-allergenic food available. And yet, his is the companionship I seek out at the end of my day. He is talkative, considerate, pleasant to be with. If I wanted a male companion, I would hope he had Virgil's temperament. He comes with some food, a litter box and his own bowl.
